

2. Create a simple cloud software application for flight reservation system using any cloud service provider.

Ans The procedural steps for creating a simple cloud software application for flight reservation system.

1. Choose a cloud provider:

There are different cloud providers such as AWS, Microsoft Azure and Zoho. So from these I have selected Zoho cloud provider.

2. Create Account:

Now created an account in the Zoho and start accessing features.

3. Select one Application:

Select Creator and enter application name as Flight Reservation System.

4. Create New Application

There are different types of template we can choose them or we can create new template which is required for the application.

5. Select one form:

There are different forms available we can any one of them and we can edit the form according to the application. The form has been created.

Software has been created:-

After creating the form the software has been created and now we can access the form and each the detail in it.

Result:-

The details which were entered in the software can be able to see the admin the date we can see in a neat manner.
